M'CORMICK NOW COMES BACK AT ADAMS IN BANKRUPTCY PETITION

*Bert McCormick Charges Edward S. Adams, Who Sued
Him for Alienating His Wife's Affections, Owes
McCormick $38,000 on Notes, and Has Only
$10,000 Assets—Hearing Tomorrow*

There are further complications in the Adams-McCormick war in the courts—the latest putting R. R. McCormick on the offensive.

It now appears that at about the same time Edward S. Adams was filing a declaration in court against R. R. McCormick for $300,000 damages for alienation of the affections of his wife, Amie Irwin Adams, McCormick was filing proceedings to throw Adams into involuntary bankruptcy.

In Adams' declaration against McCormick it was charged that McCormick had made his home at certain times at the Chicago and Lake Forest residences of Adams; and that while enjoying the hospitality of Adams, McCormick made love to Mrs. Adams.

On Friday McCormick filed a petition in bankruptcy against Adams, charging that the latter owed him $38,000 on promissory notes running from 1907 to 1913; and that Adams had assets amounting to only $10,000.

The dates given for the notes correspond with the dates given by Adams of the alleged intimacy of McCormick and Mrs. Adams.
